Content Management

proactis

Ensure the easiest way to buy is the right way

With Proactis Content Management you obtain an easily-managed framework for providing employees with access to authorised supplier catalogues, websites and marketplaces within the controls of your Purchase-to-Pay (P2P) system. It ensures the easiest way to find and buy something, is in fact, the right way.

We understand your challenges

- ① Paper-based catalogues are inefficient and lead to out-of-date, incorrect information.
- ① Online or telephone purchases lead to maverick, off-contract buying.
- ① No centralised approach to managing supplier content leads to duplicate suppliers and multiple item entries.
- ① It can be difficult to keep up with suppliers continuously adding and changing their offerings.
- ① Inadequate item information means uninformed purchases.

We have the solution

Proactis Content Management includes all the tools you need to manage supplier and in-house catalogues, to provide access to authorised supplier websites, to utilise external marketplaces and even to provide visibility to existing inventory.

It then makes all this information available throughout the organisation through intuitive search capabilities.

What you can do

Put all your supplier catalogues in one place

Central electronic catalogue

The items offered to your buyers all come through from a central repository of authorised goods and services from approved suppliers, who can keep their own catalogues up to date. Key information is displayed with every item, while your Purchase-to-Pay system ensures proper approvals and picks up the financial coding you need for account posting and spend analysis.

Get the best of the web – from within your eProcurement system

Website punch-out connections

Website punch-out connections enable your employees to access external eCommerce websites. Your users simply browse the website and select items. Their shopping cart is then pulled into your P2P system. It's run through the normal authorisation process, and then the order is placed with the website or via a PO sent to the supplier.

Widen your choice, while keeping it simple

Marketplace

Proactis Content Management offers a single entry point to numerous suppliers and products – via a growing eCommerce website managed by us. It provides you with a single point of access to many shared catalogues, contracts and punch-out connections from industry-focused suppliers and buying consortiums.

Avoid unnecessary purchases – by watching your inventory
